Answer to Question No. 1

1. Several psychologists have been working for years to answer this important question. They find that where one has any choice he becomes a lawyer or doctor or interior decorator or plumber or railroad conductor mainly because he likes and dislikes about the same things in life that the successful people in these occupations like and dislike. They conclude, therefore, that people who have voluntarily chosen their jobs have done so because they had about the same likes, dislikes, interests and ambitions as most other people who have chosen these same occupations.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Of course married people wear chains. They get married because they want to wear a lot of chains. Possibly what this savant means is that we become bound with a lot of chains we didn't bargain for. This does happen as no one can foresee all the obligations, problems and burdens that marriage is going to bring. If people did, many would back out before they reach the altar—usually, the ones that ought to back out—the ones who later, when they feel these unexpected chains, are not intelligent enough or mature enough emotionally to make them the means of binding the two closer together.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Certainly it is. It is essentially nature's way of expressing our appreciation of those whom we have loved and lost. Without grief there would be no affection. This is just as true of grief over loss of money, job, social position or what not. If our grief did not make us feel that life had suddenly changed we would make no effort to adjust ourselves to the new situation which the loss places us in. Grief is nature's stimulus to force us to make the effort to escape its discomfort.

DAILY HEALTH

CROSS-EYED SUPERSTITION

By Dr. Iago Galdston, M. D.

Of course, the common superstition that one cannot trust a cross-eyed individual is sheer nonsense. But even so, what gave rise to this superstition?

Two explanations come to mind. One centers around the fact that we often judge the earnestness, intentions and truthfulness of an individual by what we gather from his facial expressions. And the eyes contribute largely to these.

The eyes are often called the windows of the soul. Looking one in the eye is usually considered a check on an individual's earnestness.

Theatrical or fiction villains are frequently one-eyed. The Cyclops were notorious for their malice, as Homer shows in the Odyssey.

Of course, mankind in general distrusts, and in its primitive reactions is antagonistic to, the devotee, the one who diverges from the normal.

The other explanation that comes to mind centers about the psychological reactions of the cross-eyed individual to his disability.

Alfred Adler based much of his individual psychology on what he termed "organ inferiority." He taught, and experience proves his teachings, that individuals defective in some organ or respect, tend to compensate and over-compensate for their disability.

Possibly the marked aggressiveness and the uncommon patterns of attack and defense developed by many cross-eyed individuals, arousing the common man's uncritical suspicion and distrust.

Our studies of cross-eyed children show many of them to be of the nervous, sensitive, shy type. When exposed, as many of them must be, to ridicule, teasing and thoughtless abuse at the hands of their playmates they are likely to become either excessively aggressive, or withdrawn and morbid personalities.

The most unfortunate aspect of this problem is that many children who could be spared all these hardships are allowed to grow up cross-eyed. Their parents either do not know that in many instances the condition can be treated effectively, or they labor under the false belief that the child will outgrow its eye condition.

In such misunderstanding, they allow the time to pass in which

Arguments Heard in Partition Suit

Judge Albert H. Manus of Freeport was present in the Lee county Circuit court Thursday when attorneys presented arguments in the partition action for an accounting brought by John K. Batchelder against Robert A. Rodesch. Attorneys William H. Winn and Mark C. Keller appeared for the defendant, Attorney Robert L. Bracken for the plaintiffs.

A motion to strike a certain section of R. A. Rodesch's answer was argued before the court. It appeared from the answer that Mr. Rodesch had handled and paid out over $70,000 in connection with the building occupied by Montgomery Ward & Company. In his report made in his answer, Mr. Rodesch listed 448 checks, giving the number, date, amounts and to whom payable. Attorney Bracken objected to the fact that the purpose for which the checks were issued was not listed, and this was the occasion for lengthy argument. Attorney Bracken insisted that this was the real purpose of the pending court action and that the plaintiffs demanded to know just how their money was spent and for what purpose.

It appeared from the account that over 50 of these checks totalling more than $3,400 had been issued by Mr. Rodesch to himself or K. Rodesch, his son. The court overruled many of the plaintiffs' objections to the Rodesch answer but ruled that the defendant file a complete list of his disbursements in detail and to account for all monies received by him and paid out. The case was continued to a later date.

President of Commonwealth & Southern in Caustic Reply to T. V. A.

Willkie Points Out Alleged Distortion of Facts

New York, Oct. 8.—Wendell L. Willkie, president of the Commonwealth & Southern Corporation today issued a reply to an exchange of correspondence between the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Atlantic Monthly, which he says "has apparently been released by the TVA to newspapers. Mr. Willkie said:

"In this correspondence, the Director of Information of the TVA criticizes both the Atlantic Monthly and myself for an article of mine published in the August issue of that magazine. Because the TVA most unfairly accuses the Atlantic Monthly of failing to open its columns to both sides' (despite the fact that in September the Atlantic Monthly published a reply to my article by Dr. Arthur E. Morgan), and because the TVA distorts the facts in regards to its operation."

His reply is:

I have just seen in the press an exchange of correspondence between the Director of Information for the Tennessee Valley Authority and the editor of the Atlantic Monthly concerning an article of mine published in the August issue of that magazine.

The Director of Information of TVA makes the amazing statement that "The Atlantic Monthly did not see fit to open its columns to both sides of a public issue." My article was published in August. Before publication, the Atlantic Monthly gave Dr. Arthur E. Morgan an opportunity to see the article and to prepare his reply. In the September issue of that magazine, the reply was published. It may be that the Director of Information of the TVA does not consider Dr. Morgan's reply adequate, but certainly there is no justification for criticizing the Atlantic Monthly for failure to present both sides of the question.

I am glad, however, to have the opportunity to clear up any points that are not clear to the TVA's Director of Information and again to emphasize the almost unbelievable avoidance of taxes permitted to and practiced by the TVA.

Every person in the State of Tennessee, if he has a business, or works in a factory or corporation, or owns a home or a farm, pays one or all of the following taxes:

- 1—Property taxes on every piece of real estate or personal property, which he owns (including household furniture, automobiles, etc.)
- 2—A license tax on his automobile and trucks.
- 3—Eight cents on every gallon of gasoline which he buys.
- 4—A license to do business.
- 5—State or Federal Unemployment Tax.

6—Federal Old Age Benefit.

7—A Federal and a State income tax on incomes over a certain level.

In addition, a utility company in Tennessee must pay a Federal bond tax, Federal 3% excise tax, Federal and State capital stock tax, and a public utility commission tax.

Not one of these taxes is paid by the TVA and to the extent of this avoidance every individual in Tennessee will of necessity pay more taxes.

Every time the TVA takes over a piece of property, farmland for a dam or basin, right of way for a transmission line, building or any other form of property, that property immediately comes off the tax rolls, and the balance of the people in the community must make up the difference in taxes.

The particular statement in my article, of which the TVA complains, is the following:

"The first advantage given to the TVA is exemption from practically all taxes. For the fiscal year ended June 30, 1936, the TVA paid only $45,347 in taxes. The Tennessee Electric Power Company (with approximately the same capital investment) paid $2,339,284 in taxes. Here is a difference in this item alone of $2,293,937."

"With our companies limited to the items of taxes, depreciation, and interest charges, the yardstick falls to be a fair comparison for the Tennessee Company by $7,852,959 per year. This is twice the amount which the residential customers pay the company annually for all the electricity they use. It is 65 per cent of the entire electric sales of the company, including sales to power users and street lighting. Or, to put it another way, the Tennessee Company, if given the same special arbitrary advantages given the TVA could sell electricity at rates much lower than those the TVA has set up as the yardstick."

The specific objections of the TVA to this statement are somewhat obscure. Apparently the TVA feels that the statement is not correct, because (1) "a large part of the cost of the TVA property is not and never was intended to be devoted to revenue production"; (2), the revenue of The Tennessee Electric Power Company is larger than the revenue of the TVA and an owner of property pays taxes only on the revenue produced by the property, and (3), since some of the TVA customers make allowance for depreciation, the TVA does not have to do so.

On the first point, all of the property specifically mentioned in the TVA correspondence as not being devoted to revenue—such as munitions, plants, navigation locks and facilities, fertilizer plants—were omitted from my comparison. With these omissions, the TVA still has more property investment than The Tennessee Electric Power Company—that is, if the TVA property is worth what the Government paid for it, which I assume the TVA will maintain.

Second, the statement that income from property, and not property value, determines the amount of taxes to be paid, will be news, I know, to every property owner in the State of Tennessee. As a matter of fact, The Tennessee Electric Power Company, like all other taxpayers in the State of Tennessee, pays most of its taxes on property value, and it pays these taxes on any transmission lines, generating plants and distribution lines from the first moment it starts to construct these properties and all during the period of construction—and forever afterwards. It also pays on the value of its property irrespective of whether the property returns one dollar of revenue—as do all other taxpayers.

If the TVA with its vast political power and patronage can remove completely the property taxes from the backs of home owners, the farmers and business men of Tennessee, whenever their property does not pay revenue and if it will reduce their property taxes whenever the revenue from their property declines, I shall be the first to call the TVA blessed.

The TVA correspondence states that TVA revenue is only $1,500,000 as compared with $11,000,000 for the Tennessee Electric Company. If the TVA charges a rate based on its actual production costs, its revenue would be substantially higher. But accepting these figures for the purpose of the discussion and assuming that taxes should be wholly on the basis of revenue, the TVA should be its own argument pay 1/7 as much taxes as The Tennessee Electric Power Company. But does it, as a matter of fact? Last year it paid $45,347 as compared with $2,339,284 or 1/52nd as much as was paid by The Tennessee Electric Power Company. This year, according to the TVA estimates, it will pay 4.8c per dollar of its revenue in taxes as compared with 17 cents per dollar of revenue paid by The Tennessee Electric Power Company.

As to the statement that TVA does not need to take depreciation, because customers do; neither the Federal Power Commission nor any other regular commission in the United States, or the Internal Revenue Department draws the slightest distinction between the necessity of taking depreciation on generating plants and transmission lines, as distinguished from taking it on distribution lines.

The TVA correspondence criticizes my article for failing to complete the quotation from Mr. Lillenthal in which he states that "the Authority is authorized to compete with existing utilities and . . . is expressly empowered to erect duplicate facilities." The quotation goes on to say that no duplicate facilities "will be constructed until every reasonable alternative has been exhausted." I did not continue with the quotation, however, because the rest of it is now meaningless. As everyone knows, since the date of Mr. Lillenthal's statement, the TVA has spent millions of dollars in building duplicate generation, transmission and distribution lines. In other words, instead of extending electric service, the TVA has doubled the cost of it—with the money coming from the innocent taxpayer.

In conclusion, it is fair to point out that the editor of the Atlantic

Monthly asks the TVA a very simple question as to whether the TVA proposes "to keep their books and to publish their figures in the manner of private utilities with which the public is familiar." The editor of the Atlantic Monthly asks if the TVA will reply "quite definitely" to that question. The answer of the TVA is to resort, for two typewritten pages, to the favorite and time-worn mud-hole used by the utility baiters in this country now for several years, namely, the charges made by the Federal Trade Commission in 1933 and previously, relative to the accounting practices of a few of the utility companies in this country. (Incidentally, the Federal Trade Commission never claimed that there was a dollar of write-up in The Tennessee Electric Power Company.)

No one, of course, is asking that the TVA should engage in any accounting practice which is not strictly in accord with the requirements established by the Federal Power Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission. But I believe the American people as a whole are asking that the TVA should conform with those requirements, and it is this question which the TVA still refuses to answer.

I want to express my great appreciation for the opportunity of again pointing out the tremendous load which the TVA places upon the taxpayers. In all fairness to the TVA, I do not in the least blame them for being sensitive, when this is called to the public's attention. When I was a boy in Indiana, we could always determine when hunting, which birds we had hit—the hit ones always fluttered.

SOCIAL LIEF IN WASHINGTON, D. C. UNENVIABLE LOT

Washington, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Society in the nation's capital is a sweatshop, where the male labor shortage is acute and dinner clothes are the overalls the men must wear to work.

Census bureau figures show: Ninety men in Washington for every 100 women—the highest or lowest ratio in America, depending on the point of view.

And the date books show: Annually about 20,000 dinners, teas, receptions, musicales, cocktail parties and garden gatherings where men must know the social graces as if they were his sisters. It's hard to tell because this is a political place—but the men act as though they like all these social affairs.

If you want Chief Justice and Mrs. Hughes to dinner you have to ask them a year in advance, for they accept such invitations only for Saturday night.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the bureau of investigation, is sought after for many parties, but goes only to a few. When he does go, he talks shop, but interestingly.

Associate Justice Harlan F. Stone—until his illness last year—was a big dinnerman. He's on a diet now. Figuratively speaking, the social eyes are centered momentarily on Justice Hugo L. Black. As a senator he was something of a dancer. Washington asks—will he still be? Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois goes everywhere, even to morning musicales. His auburn whiskers bob up among the gladioli at many garden parties.

FAIT ACCOMPLI

News dispatches say that of the 10,122 Americans known to be residing in China, only a third have taken the president's advice to evacuate. Seven thousand, probably including many missionaries, stick to their posts. They stick to their posts knowing that the protection of the American government has been withdrawn.

Indications are that the American government proposes to get out of China. It has not the boldness, nor the straightforwardness, to get out openly and be done with it. At the insistence of pacifists it withdraws somewhat. At the insistence of believers in law and order in international affairs, it gets back into China somewhat. It blows hot and cold with the same breath. It looks in one direction, and rows in another.

But we have the word of Paul Mallon, who is well informed, that eventually we shall get out of China. Although Mr. Mallon did not say so, we suspect we shall get out of China if the Chinese, by some miracle, win their war against Japan. American business men who have fought long odds to stir up trade with the Celestials can not be expected to invest their money and take risks if they know their government is apt to run out on them at the first explosion of a war. It has been an axiom that trade follows the flag, and we may well wonder whether trade does not follow the flag in retreat as well as in advance.

We shall expect our government to withdraw somewhat furtively, as though ashamed of its part in the disgraceful scenes at Shanghai. We shall expect it to make half denials that it is abandoning its rights until all the rights have been abandoned piecemeal. And then our government can say "We are no longer in China."

That is what, in diplomatic language, is called a fait accompli. An accomplished fact. All completed, and what are you going to do about it?

HUNTERS AND ACCIDENTS

Approach of the fall hunting season leads us once more to the melancholy expectation of seeing daily stories in the papers headed "Killed in hunting accident." Every fall the story is the same; of the men who go blithely out to get a little recreation in field and woodland, a certain number will die because of their own or others' carelessness.

Probably there isn't much that can be done to remedy matters. The hunting grounds available to ordinary city folk are usually so crowded that accidents are as you might say, fairly begging to happen. The high incidence of carelessness among human beings makes it pretty certain that the accidents will in due course materialize.

The best that can be done is to remind each hunter that he carries a lethal weapon which a moment's heedlessness can turn into an instrument of tragedy.

AUTO INDUSTRY SHOWS WAY TO REVIVAL

When famine comes and food is not to be had, an animal has to live on the fat which he stored up in the good days of plenty. Likewise with an industrial corporation; in hard times it must draw on the surplus laid up in good times.

Nowhere was this done to a much greater extent than in the American automobile industry. The giants of that trade entered the depression with full war chests; as a result, they were able to carry on in very fair shape, and although they did cut production and production costs they provided a pretty substantial amount of employment in the lean years.

Now, of course, the swing is the other way again, and it is worth while to look at a few figures.

At the end of 1928, before the depression struck, the five principal automobile companies (exclusive of Ford) had current assets of $464,557,000. By the end of 1932, these assets had dwindled to $302,773,000. Today, according to the Wall Street Journal, they are $545,645,000.

These figures will stand a little consideration.

In the first place, the auto industry has been the bell-wether for that section of industry which believes in gaining profits through a wide volume of business carried on at a comparatively low profit margin. It has never relied on a protective tariff or on mutual agreements to keep prices up. It has pioneered in passing on to the consumer the production savings made possible by technological improvements.

Furthermore, since the end of the depression (assuming, for the sake of argument, that the depression actually is over) the auto industry has been the scene of great unionization drive. The great producers have been signed to union contracts. Pay scales have been raised. Along with this, the prices of raw materials have gone up.

Yet the price the consumer pays for a new auto has gone up only a little. It seems fair to say that the auto people have boosted prices reluctantly and moderately. They have not, in other words, been in a great rush to pass increased costs along to the public.

On top of all of this, a dispatch in the current New York Times points out that the industry is preparing for a larger output in 1938 than in 1937—although the 1937 output was the highest in years. It is looking forward to increased prosperity; at the same time it has boosted its surplus so that it is in shape to withstand another depression if necessary.

All of this must be immensely encouraging to us old-fashioned people who believe that capitalism is still a lusty and vigorous force. Here is one industry, at least, which displays most excellent health—and proves once more that high wages, low prices and big profits can go along together.

UNFIT TO DRIVE

Safety organizations have pointed out before now that a comparatively small group of auto drivers is responsible for most of the accidents; that there are people who simply aren't fit to drive cars, and who must be restrained or barred from the road if the traffic toll is ever to be reduced.

A recent case in Toledo illustrates the point. A young man was arrested after having run down and killed a pedestrian. Released on bond, he continued to drive—and 16 days after the fatal accident was arrested for driving at 67 miles an hour on city streets.

Such a man obviously has no business ever touching a steering wheel. How any man, with a fatal accident fresh on his conscience, could go out and travel at such a breakneck speed through city traffic, must be incomprehensible to all ordinary motorists. Until we find some way of keeping such people off the road for life, our traffic will continue to be dangerous.

From the Firing Line

By H. G. R.

All secretaries of small town chambers of commerce who failed to recommend their respective communities to Hanen Swaffer, British political pundit, who is looking for a typical American town, are probably looking for new jobs by now.

This is fire prevention week in some communities, but in Washington the officeholders observe it throughout the year. If you don't believe it, watch 'em when somebody suggests dropping a few employees from the payroll.

Two men killed a spotted adler at Rock Falls the other day and nobody has claimed it resembled a tiger, mountain lion or leopard.

Something else to worry about. Dealers say the price of fuel is to increase this winter.

Perhaps you've noticed that some of the persons who are insisting we should "do something" about the Japs attacking the Chinese are the leaders in opposing an adequate defense program.

Even the sandwiches are being streamlined nowadays.

With the Japs trying to blow up Shanghai and the Chinese trying to destroy Chefoo, we'd prefer a ringside seat at the world's series.

And we've been wondering if Mussolini did the goose-step when reviewing the Nazi troops.

One could write a large-size book about whiskers. We are reminded of this subject when reading in the current issue of a newspapermen's magazine that war correspondents with whiskers went out with the close of the Civil war. Guess the writer of that article overlooked William Brill, an Associated Press war correspondent, with whom we covered another one of those undeclared Chinese wars not so long ago. Bill sported a set of whiskers that was something to write home about. He told us that he had read somewhere that the Chinese respected old age and for that reason he had grown whiskers. A more simple way would have been the removal of his hat, for above the ear line Bill had no more hair than a billiard ball. However, he preferred the more spectacular method.

And it was so long ago that the Chicago Press club was cluttered with the whiskers of budding journalists. They apparently took their cues from J. Ham Lewis, who was an honorary member of the club several years before he aimed at the United States senate, and from the equally bewiskered Major Lightfoot Vischer, who was a club fixture for no apparent reason other than his wide acquaintance among bartenders. The only war record claimed by the Major involved the few occasions when the drink mixers couldn't appreciate his sparkling southern humor. When the cubs discovered that George Ade and Ring Lardner were managing to pick up a few dollars without the aid of whiskers they began patronizing the barbershops. This marked the beginning of the end of whiskers in journalism. But as we indicated at the outset, there are many interesting things in whiskers if only one combs deep enough.

Office Wife Love Triangle Cause Of Fatal Shooting

Paducah, Ky., Oct. 8—(AP)—A love triangle involving an "office wife" was blamed today by Mrs. Gladys Stenbridge Adams, 38-year-old former Sunday school teacher and choir singer, for the fatal shooting of her attorney husband, Ben S. Adams, in his law office here July 15, 1936.

The frail, 70-pound widow, testifying from a cot, told a jury in McCracken Circuit Court here that she shot her husband in self-defense. Both were grappling for a pistol in an open desk drawer, she said, adding: "I knew he was going to kill me."

Sobbing intermittently, Mrs. Adams said she and her husband had argued heatedly over his demands that she give him certain evidence she planned to use in defense of a divorce suit he had filed.

The widow, who said she weighed 120 pounds before her husband was slain, related how she one time had peeked through a letter slit in the door of her husband's private office to see him and his secretary, Mrs. Alta Nanney, embracing.

Stomach Sweepstakes Originator Too Weak To Talk About Pool

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 8—(AP)—The first "stomach sweepstakes" in the history of Lincoln was a success today, but Gaylor Craig, 21, the originator, was too weak to talk about it.

Craig swallowed a half-dollar last July 14. It didn't bother him so much, but his doctor advised him to undergo an operation to remove the silver piece lest ulceration of the stomach occur.

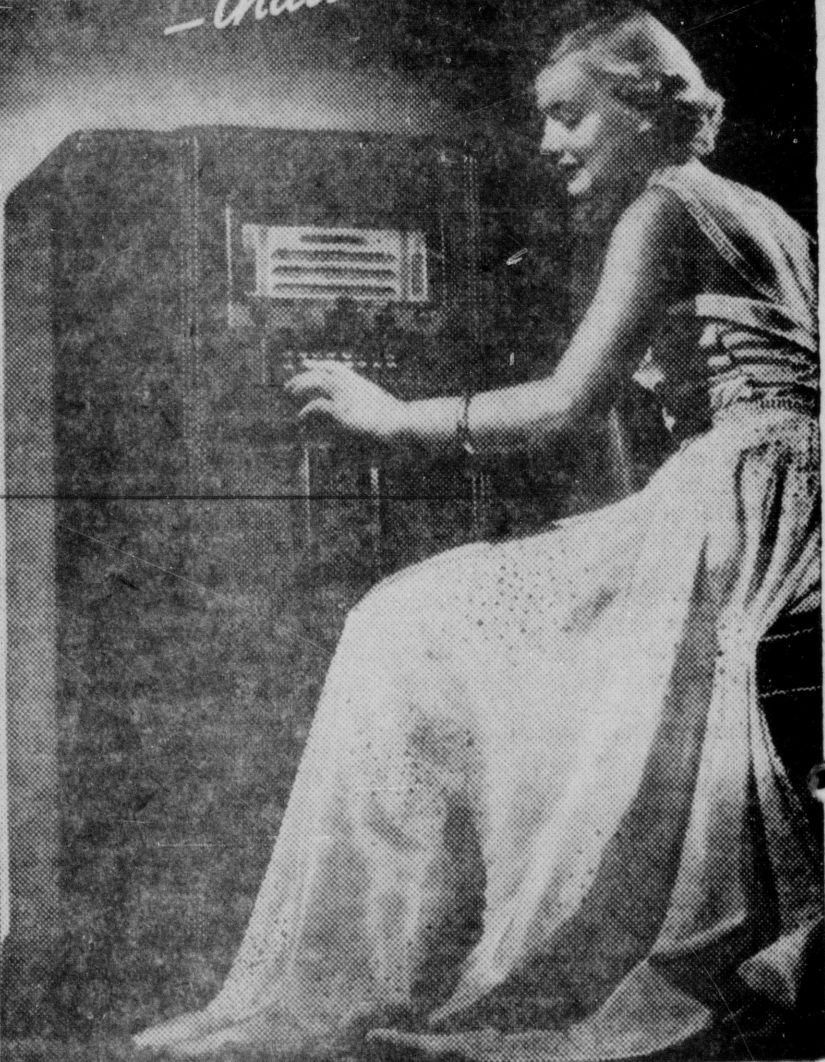

Craig agreed, but started a pool among his friends at a dime a chance, with the pot going to the one who guessed the closest to the coinage date on the half dollar.

Dr. Clarence Crook made an opening through the abdominal wall, and removed the silver piece—dated 1936. Harry Martin won the $18.90 pot.

Craig was reported "doing nicely" at the hospital, but he was too weak to make any comments.

Fall Best Time To Plant Spring Flowering Bulbs

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 8.—Early October is the best time for planting spring flowering bulbs, according to S. W. Hall, associate chief in floriculture, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Illinois home and commercial gardeners will find that although bulbs may be planted any time from the middle of September until the ground freezes, early October is the ideal time as the bulbs have time to become thoroughly established and to make a vigorous root growth before the ground freezes, Hall explained.

"Bulbs thrive best in a soil that is light in texture and well drained," he said. It should be pulverized deeply and thoroughly with care taken not to bring the subsoil to the surface. Usually it is not necessary for the home gardener to fertilize the area where tulips are planted. The soil in most Illinois gardens, providing the drainage is sufficient, will produce good tulips."

Emphasizing the importance of depth and planting distance, Hall recommended a planting distance of 6 to 7 inches apart each way in a bed and 8 to 9 inches apart in a border. As for depth of planting, 5 inches from the top of the bulb to the surface of the soil is the usual practice. Setting bulbs at a uniform depth insures an even height and simultaneous bloom.

Good bulbs are not expensive, but results from inferior bulbs are almost sure to be disappointing. Spring-flowering bulbs frequently continue to bloom over a period of years.

Dutch hyacinths are the only ones suited to garden use, Hall said. However, an adequate supply of American-grown narcissus bulbs are now available for those who like narcissus. There are only four types or classes of tulips which are grown largely out of doors. They are Early Flowering, Darwins, Breeders and Cottage.

Early flowering tulips, although they bloom in April, are not nearly as vigorous in growth, as pleasing in color or lasting in effect as are the other three types which are becoming more and more popular. Darwin, Breeder and Cottage types are characterized by sturdy growth, large size, good keeping qualities, variety and purity of color.

Tulips will not make their best growth if planted close to mature trees or shrubs. They do best if a sunny position is selected for them. When once planted, tulips may remain in one location for three successive years. It is not necessary to purchase large quantities of bulbs for, if properly cared for, tulips will increase rapidly. On the average they will at least triple their numbers every two years.

Average weight: Illinois line, 195; backfield, 175; team average, 186. Notre Dame line, 194; backfield, 173; team average, 186.

Referee—Frank Lane (Detroit). Umpire—H. G. Hedges (Dartmouth). Field Judge—N. E. Kearns (DePaul). Head Linesman—Ernie Vick (Michigan).

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 8.—The football legions of Notre Dame will invade Memorial Stadium Saturday for their first game with Illinois since the Irish and Illini battled on old Illinois field in the fog-end of the Gay Nineties almost exactly 39 years ago to the day.

Headed by 18 lettermen from last year's outstanding team, the lads who learned their football under the show of the golden dome, present an array that is impressive in its skill, experience and numbers.

Coach Bob Zuppke of Illinois, who watched Notre Dame against Southern California at Los Angeles last December, declared the Irish were the best looking team he had seen all season.

A young and unseasoned Illinois team is keyed to the utmost for the struggle, which will be witnessed by a crowd of between 50,000 and 55,000, the largest which has traveled to the stadium since the Army game in 1929.

Assurance by Manager C. E. Bowen that seats will be available to all-comers in the main stands and balconies on the sides of the field, even at the last minute Saturday, is expected to swell the attendance. It will not be necessary for anyone to sit behind the goal posts, Bowen announced.

Irish and Illini will renew their gridiron relations before a colorful background. The famous Illinois band will present new songs, formations and songs, and university girls, representing the various Big Ten institutions and Notre Dame, will appear.

Special Guests Members of the Notre Dame and Illinois teams of 1898, who played on Oct. 8 that year, will be special guests and will be introduced to the crowd at the end of the first half. Notre Dame's veterans will be led by Chuck Fleming of Chicago, whose place-kick won the 1898 game by a score of 5 to 0.

For the first time in years an Illinois team will not be obliged to give heavy odds in point of weight to a major opponent. If Backes Layden and Zuppke start the combinations expected, Irish and Illini will tie the scales at identical figures, each eleven averaging 186 pounds. The Irish line averages 194 and the Illini forwards 195.

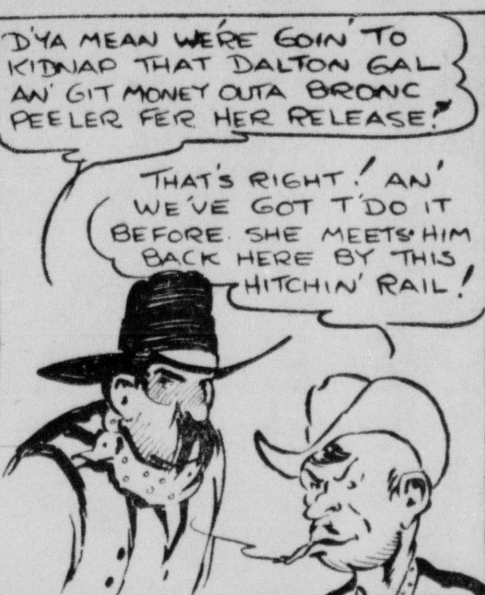

The Notre Dame starting lineup will consist of ten lettermen, three of whom are Captain Zwiers, Ruetz and Kuharich, seniors and Skoglund, Beinor, McCarty, Alec Schelllogg, McCarthy, Pupils and McCormick, juniors. Tonelli, fullback, is a sophomore.

The starters for Illinois will include six lettermen, Captain Spurgeon, Fay and Berner, seniors. Lasater, Castelo and Carson, juniors. Klemp, McDonald and Wehrli had little or no varsity playing experience last year and Brewer and Cramer are sophomores.

Zuppke cannot hope to withstand the influx of Irish replacements with one team, so it is certain that the Illini seconds will see much action. This squad will probably consist of Hathaway and Bennis, ends; Lundberg and Reeder, tackles; Siebold and Hodges, guards; Turnbull or Lenich, center; Brown, quarterback; Mazeika, Zimmerman, Smith, halfbacks; Bennett, fullback. Bo Burris, B team halfback last year, is another reserve prospect if his condition permits which is probable.

Of this group, Hathaway, Lundberg, Reeder, Siebold, Hodges, Bennett and Lenich are sophomores. Other reserves who may get their chance include young Bob Zuppke, end; Kirschke, tackle; Catanzarite, halfback; Pezzoli, quarterback;

NORTHWESTERN GETS BAPTISM BY MICHIGAN

Will Prove Whether Or No Wildcats Can Hold Title

By EARL KILLIGAN
Chicago, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Northwestern's Wildcats, who clawed their way to six victories and the Big Ten championship last season, get a test from the Michigan Wolverine tomorrow in what stacks up as the stoutest battle of a full Western conference gridiron program.

The game, to be played at the Northwestern Dwyer stadium, is expected to attract some 40,000 spectators. Most of them will be seeking an answer to a question which long has been bothering the Wildcats mentor, Lynn Waldorf: Will a rebuilt Northwestern team be equal to a schedule generally recognized as much harder than the 1936 card?

Michigan, which showed plenty of spirit while losing to Michigan State, 19 to 14, worked out at Dwyer stadium today after Northwestern had taken a final limbering-up drill.

Indiana's Hoosiers, 35 strong, went through a blackboard session at Indianapolis before moving on to Minneapolis for battle with the highly favored Minnesota Gophers in another of the day's three title games.

Badgers Favored Wisconsin, heartened by the return to eligibility of Ed Misiak, fast junior halfback, is favored to whip the Chicago Maroons. The Chicagoans, however, looked good on offense yesterday. Wisconsin worked out today on Stagg field.

Forty-two Notre Dame players headed for Danville, Ill., where they will rest until shortly before going against Illinois at Champaign. Coach Elmer Layden wound up work yesterday with a light drill, warning his squad against overconfidence. Illinois, although the underdog, is expected to give the Irish a stiff workout.

A crowd of 50,000 to 60,000 will see this game.

Ohio State carried Big Ten prestige into intercollegiate battle, with the Buckeyes opposing So. California at Los Angeles. Bradley Tech of Illinois goes to Iowa and Carnegie Tech opposes Purdue at Lafayette.

Walton Observes Gabby Hartnett Day This Sunday

Because the Chicago city series will run through Sunday "Gabby" Hartnett has notified the Rev. Fr. Kennedy that he will be unable to be present at Sunday's festivities in Walton. However, "Gabby" is sending his team to the big festivities and is sponsoring it in every way.

Final plans were made for the Walton Homecoming and Gabby Hartnett Day to be held Sunday, Oct. 10, on the parish grounds of St. Mary's.

Two ball games, one at 10:30 a. m., of League-All-Stars and at 2 p. m., Gabby Hartnett's Chicago Bears. Games, amusements and refreshments will be plentiful. The fried chicken dinner starts at 11:30 a. m. until all are served. Pony races will be held for the children. Otto Hecker and Sylvester Hecker will have charge of the races. The Holy Name society, League of the Sacred Heart and the Young Ladies' Sodality are all working hard to make the day a success.

The following ladies are assisting: Mrs. Charles McCoy, Mrs. James Carrington, Mrs. J. J. Blackburn, Mrs. C. C. Ackert, Mrs. John Conroy, Mrs. Michael O'Malley, Mrs. Louise Bushman, Mrs. Charles Gillman, Mrs. Otto Hecker, Mrs. William Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Leo Zinnerly, Mrs. William Gugerty, Mrs. Edwin McCoy, Mrs. Ralph Daum, Mrs. Laurence Dempsey, Miss Mayne Conroy, Mrs. Michael Powers, Mrs. William Oester, Mrs. Frank McCoy, Mrs. J. Lautenizer, Mrs. Dan Payne, Mrs. Anna McCoy, Mrs. Paul McCaffrey, Mrs. J. P. Dempsey, Mrs. Laurence Morrissey, Mrs. Marie McCaffrey, Mrs. Michael Finn, Mrs. James Morrissey, Mrs. Pat Dunphy, Mrs. Nick Boorman, Mrs. Catherine Klein, Mrs. Martin Mihm, Mrs. Edward Sullivan, Mrs. Clarence Morrissey, Mrs. Peter McCoy, Miss Mary Hawkins, Cecelia Blackburn, Florence Bushman, Julia Brecon, Winifred Klein, Margaret Blackburn, Mabel Healy, Mary McCoy, Rita Gugerty, Mrs. Clete Priel, Josephine Halligan, Arvilla Dempsey, Mrs. John Murray, Mary Grohens, Sadie Healy, Mrs. Francis Payne, Lienata Morrissey, Edna Dempsey, Mrs. Charles Dunphy, Viola Dempsey, Catherine Conroy, Mrs. J. A. Blackburn, Della Mae Fenwick, Marian Powers, Helen Dempsey, Rita McCoy, Doris Bushman, Mrs. Sylvester Hecker, Catherine Lally, Rita Moran, Mrs. Bernard Bushman, Lenore Dempsey.

There will be amusement and plenty of fun for all and all are welcome and all hope this Gabby Hartnett Day will be the same success that it was in former years.

In the evening there will be a dance, the music to be furnished by Leake's orchestra of Amboy.

Still Disabled Jay Wardley, whose passing and punting ability will be sorely missed, and Pete Kovachic, sophomore candidate for center, are still disabled.

Notre Dame's colors are blue and gold, the Irish official jersey being dark blue but because Illinois' jerseys are also navy blue, Coach Layden will dress his men in jerseys of kelly green with white epaulets, which will be appreciated by the spectators.

The Irish will come from Danville by special train at noon. The Illini will remain at the Champaign country club until game time.

MAJOR TEAMS DUE TO SUFFER GRID UPSETS

Ohio State Favored To Trip Trojans On Coast

By HERBERT W. BARKER
New York, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Like the Giants, this football corner may be down but it's not out yet. With a quick and maybe effective shift from speed to screwballs, here's how this week's slate seems to shape up:

Illinois-Notre Dame: If pure mathematics could be trusted, the Ramblers' triumph over Drake last week and Illinois' scoreless tie with DePaul should add up another Notre Dame victory. But Bob Zuppke has been gunning for this one and will shoot the works. Perhaps it's sheer perversity but we still like Notre Dame.

Southern California-Olio State: With fingers crossed, Olio State. Duke-Tennessee: It threatens to be as close as last year's thriller which Tennessee pulled out of the fire, 15-13, on Tom Harp's long run in the closing minutes. Harp will be on hand again but this time we take Duke.

Princeton-Cornell: It may be close but Cornell gets the nod. Duquesne-Pitt: Pitt after the toughest kind of battling.

Army-Columbia: Army rates an edge with more and superior reserves.

Yale-Penn: The Elis will come up with enough tricky stuff to turn the tide.

Manhattan-Michigan State: The nod goes to State.

New York University-North Carolina: Here it is, N. Y. U. Villanova-Auburn: Villanova.

Northwestern-Michigan: The Wolverines are on the up-grade but do not appear ready yet for competition of this kind. Northwestern.

Purdue-Carnegie: Maybe the Boiler-makers' passes will click this time. Purdue.

Indiana-Indiana: That Nebraska set-back may have convinced the Gophers a great team has to prove it on the gridiron. All of which indicates disaster for Indiana. The ballot is cast for Minnesota.

Chicago-Wisconsin: Wisconsin.

Iowa State-Nebraska: The Cyclones of Iowa State appear outclassed. Nebraska.

Texas A. & M.-Mississippi State: A faint-hearted vote for the Aggies.

Rice-Louisiana State: We'll take Louisiana.

Baylor-Arkansas: Ditto Arkansas but this is the spot for an upset.

Texas-Oklahoma: Eenie, meenie . . . Texas.

Texas Christian-Tulsa: Christian.

Dixon Confident Of Adding Second Conference Win

Coach C. B. Lindell and his Purple and White football machine bound for another conference championship rides into Mendota tomorrow afternoon to meet its second conference test against the unbeaten team of that school.

The locals are reported in good condition for the game. Most of the injuries suffered last week and the week before in practice have been cleared up. Daschbach, who sprained his wrist in scrimmage a week and a half ago, has recovered from this injury and will be ready to see action Saturday.

Mendota upset the dope by defeating Rochelle 3 to 0 last Saturday to win its opening N. C. I. conference battle. The hosts also hold two pre-conference victories over DePaul and Amboy. Dixon has only one game to date, a 26 to 0 defeat by Rockford two weeks ago.

The locals successfully opened their conference campaign against one of the strongest teams in the loop Belvidere, by winning 21 to 6 in a determined last quarter drive.

ers haven't shown anything yet to indicate they can whip Temple.

Tars Favored Navy-Virginia: The Tars should hold this one safely.

West Virginia-Washington and Lee: West Virginia.

Detroit-Texas Tech: Not much line but the vote goes to Detroit.

Missouri-Kansas State: Missouri was a disappointment against Colorado last week. Maybe the Tigers will wake up long enough to whip Kansas State.

Washington University-Southern Methodist: S. M. U.

Gonzaga-Oregon: Scoreless ties with Washington State and St. Mary's indicates Gonzaga has a swell defense if nothing else. On a quick reverse to the weak side, Oregon.

San Francisco-Santa Clara: Looks like Santa Clara.

Utah State-Colorado: Colorado looks too strong for the Aggies.

Idaho-Utah: May be close but Idaho looks like the winner.

Skipping blithely over the chalk-lines otherwise: Colgate over St. Bonaventure; Dartmouth over Springfield; Fordham over Wayneburg; Syracuse over St. Lawrence; George Washington over West Virginia Wesleyan; Iowa over Bradley; Marquette over South Dakota; Kansas over Wichita; Tulane over Mississippi college; Vanderbilt over Southwest (Tenn.); St. Mary's (Calif) over Nevada; Denver over Colorado State; Brigham Young over California Aggies.

PLEADS INNOCENT

Evansville, Ind.—(AP)—Mrs. Stella Herrin, 47, of Bridgeport, Ill., pleaded innocent to a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill her husband, Aaron, in a nearby tourist camp recently. Her trial was set for October 25. The case was filed by the state after Herrin declined to file charges against his wife. The state charges Mrs. Herrin shot her husband during an argument.

DEKALB NORMAL HOMECOMING FOE IS STATE NORMAL

Evans Seeking New Offensive Power From Eleven

After two consecutive ties in the initial two games of the current season, Coach George G. Evans is striving to develop a stronger offensive attack for his Northern Teachers grid machine. With the big battle of the year looming up this Saturday in the Homecoming game with Illinois State Normal University, it has become imperative that the touchdown ability of the Pros be improved in order to cope with the highly recommended offensive attack of the Normal Redbirds. In view of all this the predominant factor in the week's practice schedule has been offensive practice and more offensive practice.

Another matter of paramount importance that demanded the attention of the Prof coaching staff was the searching for men to fill the positions at left end and tackle vacated by the injured Curtis Larsen and Paul Blair. Both men received injuries in the Elmhurst game, Larsen to his knee and Blair to his back, serious enough to prevent their play on Saturday. The end proposition seems to be taken care of in good shape by the veterans, Roy Allen and John Young, although the aggressive work of Larsen will be seriously missed in the Homecoming classic. In Blair's position on tackle, paired with Co-captain Joe Rockenbach, will be Frank Stegman, moved from his position at center when Blair's play on Saturday was considered dubious. Edward Hill will take over the pivot position while Co-captain Louis DeRango and Alex Saudargas take charge of the guard situation.

Barber Returns The backfield will be strengthened this week with the return of Jack Barber, sophomore fullback, to the starting lineup after a week's layoff caused by a foot injury. Paired with Barber in the backfield will be Orville Krahenbuhl at quarterback, along with Chester Davis and Harold Lewis at the halves. Krahenbuhl has taken over Davis' quarterback duties to enable the colored triple-threat to concentrate on his offensive tasks.

Two interesting situations will arise this week by virtue of Northwestern's Homecoming with State Normal. First of all the Pros will be attempting to maintain their great record of never having tasted defeat in a Homecoming contest since Coach Evans took over the football destinies of N. I. in 1929. Secondly both teams will be striving to break a tie game record that has existed for three consecutive years between the two schools. In their meetings during the 1934 and '35 seasons the games ended in scoreless ties while the final result in last year's struggle was 6 to 6. Again this year the teams appear to be quite evenly matched so only time and Dame Fortune know who will get the victory nod on Saturday.

GOOD THOUGHTS

Music is one of the fairest and most glorious gifts of God, to which Satan is a bitter enemy; for it removes from the heart the weight of sorrow, and the fascination of evil thoughts.

—Martin Luther.
When I think upon God, my heart is so full of joy that the notes dance and leap, as it were, from my pen; and since God has given me a cheerful heart it will be pardoned me that I serve Him with a cheerful spirit.

—Mozart.
Whenever I think of God I can only conceive of Him as a Being infinitely great and infinitely good. This last quality of the divine nature inspires me with such confidence and joy that I could have written ever a misere in tempo allegro.

—Hady.
Whatever inspires with wisdom, Truth or Love—be it song, sermon or Science—blesses the human family with crumbs of comfort from Christ's table, feeding the hungry and giving living waters to the thirsty.

—Mary Baker Eddy.
Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands. Serve the Lord with gladness; come into His presence with singing. . . For the Lord is good; His mercy is everlasting and His truth endureth to all generations.

—Psalms 100.
Yea, music is the Prophet's art. Among the gifts that God hath sent, One of the most magnificent!

—Longfellow.

Farm Jobs for Relief Workers To be Discussed

On Monday afternoon, October 11 at 1:30 a conference of representatives will meet in the supervisor's room, court house at Dixon to adopt means whereby able-bodied men now on relief rolls can be urged to accept employment on farms where farm help is needed.

To this meeting has been invited representatives of Farm Bureau, reemployment office, township supervisors, WPA and the state relief commission.

In the past some communities have been faced with the problem of farmers unable to secure enough help and, at the same time, able-bodied people present on relief being supported at public expense. The purpose of this conference is to discover if such a situation does exist in Lee county and if such be the case arrangements will be made whereby farmers will make known their need for additional help and able-bodied relief clients will be put in contact with those available jobs.

Trade Review

New York, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Little headway was made by trade and industry this week, although few branches relinquished ground gained in the past month, Dun & Bradstreet said today in the weekly review of business.

"Combating weather vagaries," the agency said, "Retail distribution pushed forward slowly, hampered chiefly by the lag in apparel demand. Budget restrictions kept orders to wholesalers in close alignment with stock liquidation, advance buying proceeding cautiously."

The review estimated retail sales the agency said, "Retail distribution one to four per cent over the preceding week and from five to 18 per cent over the comparable week last year. It pointed out that October, 1936, was one of the best months of the year for most merchants."

A distinct upturn was noted in hardware, stoves, oil burners and a wide range of household goods. Men's suits sold better than topcoats.

Percentage increases over the 1936 week in the major geographic areas included: middle west 10 to 15.

THE manner in which a cobra strikes is very different from the method of the long-fanged snakes, such as the rattler. The latter opens his mouth wide, and stabs the victim, while the former grasps the victim, and chews it momentarily.

Brain Twizzlers
By
PROF. J. D. FLINT

There is a legend about an ancient Greek philosopher and a problem of nines. The number nine was thought to possess magic power in days gone by and this problem was proposed by the philosopher after he had been constantly harassed by a fellow townsman who claimed nine as his lucky number. The philosopher showed how three nines could be made equal to eleven by placing two of them, forming 99, over the third to get the fraction which equaled eleven. The then suggested that the fellow townsman arrange three nines to equal 20. The use of simple arithmetic signs or devices was permitted.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S TWIZZLER

The store and bank are 1060 yards or one mile apart. To arrive at this answer we add the two distances at which they met, 720 plus 400, getting 1120. Then we add twice the difference between the two 640, to get 1760.

Mount Morris

By Pauline Yoe

Undoubtedly one of the most auspicious years in the history of the Mt. Morris Woman's club was launched Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Pearl Kable, as was evidenced by the remarkably large attendance of 80 members and guests.

Due to the devoted energies of Mrs. Donovan Mills, president of the organization, and the membership committee, 37 members were received into the organization. Miss Betty McDaniels gave a group of solos prior to the talk by Miss Mary McColl. In her talk on Mexico, Miss McColl gave many interesting side lights on Mexican customs, dress, food and history.

The climate of Mexico City, where Miss McColl spent the summer studying in the University of Mexico, is not so hot as is generally believed. This of course is due to the high altitude which is 10,000 feet above sea level.

Occasional tours through the country brought her into contact with sugar plantations, Mexican cookery, bull fights, cathedrals and many bits of history, which give one a real insight into the character of a people and country.

Following this most interesting talk, Mrs. B. G. Finch and Mrs. Charles Cox presided at the table.

Fifty years no doubt have produced many cherished memories for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cushing, who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Tuesday. The day was spent in Elgin where they with their daughter, Mrs. Otis Helfrich of Pleasantville, N. Y., visited with relatives.

On Sunday, with their daughter, they entertained Mr. and Mrs. George Farewell, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson of Western Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Coleman of Elgin, Mrs. Jacob Stahl of Cumberland, Ia., and Mrs. Lana Newcomer, at dinner.

May be add our felicitations, too, Mr. and Mrs. Cushing.

Amid a setting of rare old pieces of furniture and bric-a-brac, the members of the Q. P. K. club enjoyed a desert bridge at the Spoor hotel in Oregon last Friday afternoon as guests of Mrs. Charles Cox, Mrs. Gerald Sanderson, Mrs. Frank Horton and Mrs. Eleanor Wellhausen.

"Happy returns of the day" came to Phyllis Lizer much sooner than she expected. Her real enjoyment of a party had been prevented by illness at the time of her birthday several weeks ago, but Tuesday afternoon, she with seven friends rode to Franklin Grove with her mother for a deferred installment of her birthday celebration. Grandpa Ira Buck built a fire for the girls over which they prepared their supper at twilight. Guests at the party were Dorothy Nunn, Iola Hagemann, Mildred Lingel, Jean Lingel, Mildred Rouse, Arlene Rouse and Donna Lizer.

Perfect fall weather welcomed 18 guests at a dinner party given by Mrs. Pearl Kable and Dr. Ted Thomas at the Rick River Country club in Oregon last Friday evening. Prizes for bridge, which formed the evening's diversion, were given to Mrs. Marian Small and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Finch. Others present at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cox, Mr. and Mrs. William Prugh, Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Booth, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Borklund, Mrs. J. W. Bon of Polo, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilke of Polo and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Long.

All the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Balluff had a rattling good time Wednesday evening at a skating party at the Coliseum in Oregon. A chili supper at Pyper's Cafe served to top off the evening's enjoyment for the Messrs. and Mesdames Gene Johnston, Ben Colvin, Paul Adams of Sterling, Charlie Harshbarger, William Noonkesser, Edward Balluff, Walter Schelling, Hubert Pyper and Wayne Wilson.

A few friends were present at the reception in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Butler to mark a "double wedding," one the recent marriage of Floyd Butler to Miss Frances Shrader of Polo and the other the 35th wedding anniversary of the elder Butlers. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Shrader of Polo and Mr. and Mrs. Evelyn Zumdahl and children—Lois, Dorothy, Carol Mae and Joyce were present as were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hayes and son, Jerry, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hayes and Mr. and Mrs.

Joe Bailey and daughter Shirley, all of Kings.

Mrs. L. M. Griffin of Polo will be present at the meeting of chapter CU Tuesday evening to give a report of the supreme convention held in St. Louis in September. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Mark Crawford.

Next Friday evening members of the Philathea class will have their regular monthly meeting and Halloween party in the church parlors.

There will be a meeting of the Ladies Aid society of the Methodist church next Wednesday afternoon. The new officers who were elected at the September meeting are Mrs. Ernest Bruner, president; Mrs. Mary Thompson, vice-president; Mrs. Elta Coffman, second vice-president; Mrs. Arthur Davidson, secretary; Mrs. Zella Eversole, treasurer. Mrs. D. G. Carpenter has been chosen to be devotion chairman for the year and she will take care of the worship service at this meeting. Miss Gladys Newcomer is publicity chairman. Mrs. Orpha Fearer and Mrs. Ray Aver are on the courtesy committee while Mrs. Mary Thompson and Mrs. L. G. Finch will provide music for the meetings.

The hostess committee for this meeting will include the Mesdames Clyde Walkup, chairman; W. A. Robinson, Emmett Wolfe, Frank Stonebrager, Ernest Boydston, Jay Cratty, Harry Cushing, and Miss Ella Rohrer.

The members of the Fortnightly club spent a pleasant afternoon playing "42" on the spacious porch of the home of Mrs. Ida Hendrickson Tuesday afternoon. Before the play began, Mrs. Oliver Watts was elected to serve as president for the coming year and Mrs. D. E. Thompson chosen for secretary-treasurer.

On Thursday evening the members, accompanied by their husbands, will make their annual journey to the Lighthouse church for a chicken supper.

THREATENS N. E. COED

Chicago, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Police Captain Patrick Collins said today Raymond Hayes, railroad camp dishwasher, would be turned over to federal authorities for prosecution on charges of writing a threatening letter to Miss Betty Ann Evans, University of Chicago freshman. Collins said Hayes told him he sent the letter, demanding $200, to Miss Evans, after seeing her picture in a newspaper.

Sequins, paillettes and "bugles" are being used widely on evening gowns.

CAMPAIGN FOR SCOUTING WILL BE CONTINUEDWorkers Unable to Contact all Friends of
Scouts in One Day

The drive for funds to carry on Boy and Girl Scout work in this area, which was launched in Dixon Wednesday is to continue for a day or two more until all persons have been reached. It was reported this morning by W. A. McMasters, chairman of the executive committee in charge of the drive.

Although there were over 100 workers in the field, it was not possible to make a complete canvass of all sections of Dixon on Wednesday and workers have been asked to retain their cards and citizens on their lists have been contacted and given an opportunity to contribute to the Scout fund.

Members of the initial gifts committee began working on Tuesday but owing to the difficulty in contacting contributors, about half of the committee members have not yet made their reports. Those workers as well as those of the industrial and residential soliciting committees will continue making calls until all persons have been seen.

In commenting on the co-operation given by the many Dixon people who are taking part in the drive, Mr. McMasters and A. A. Stocker, Boy Scout executive of the Blackhawk Area Council, both voiced their appreciation for the willingness and enthusiasm displayed by the workers. "It is this spirit of hearty co-operation," said Mr. McMasters, "that convinces me the people of Dixon realize the value of Scouting and want to carry on the worthwhile activity for the boys and girls of this community."

Brain Operation
To Restore Power
Of Speech Needed

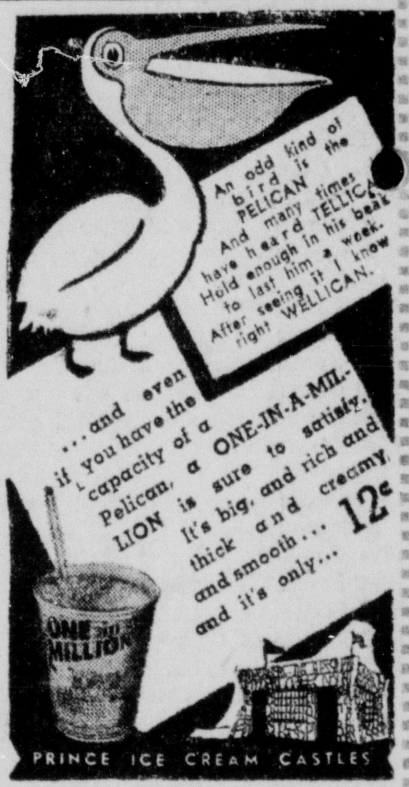

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 8.—(AP)—In an effort to restore her power of speech, surgeons may perform a second brain operation upon Mrs. James Welborn, 20 year old "crash mother," hospital attendants said today.

She suffered a fractured skull in an auto-train collision here 34 days ago. Her husband suffered fatal injuries. Four hours later, Mrs. Welborn gave birth to a healthy son.

Surgeons removed a blood clot from Mrs. Welborn's brain a week following the accident.

The area of Manchoukiao, 1,303,143 square miles, was announced officially for the first time in March, 1935, previously having been a matter of estimation.

"VARSITY SHOW"

HERE COMES PACKARD FOR 1938

-the only cars that can make you all these promises!

MIRACULOUS RIDE—The new Packard Six and new Packard Eight (formerly called Packard 120) bring you the gentlest ride ever offered to motorists—a ride that literally re-makes roads!

UNEQUALLED SAFETY—These new Packards are outstanding in safety. Side-sway is eliminated and the danger of skidding is tremendously reduced.

REVOLUTIONARY REAR END—The foregoing things have been accomplished by a trio of epochal improvements which now bring the effect of independent wheel suspension to the rear end.

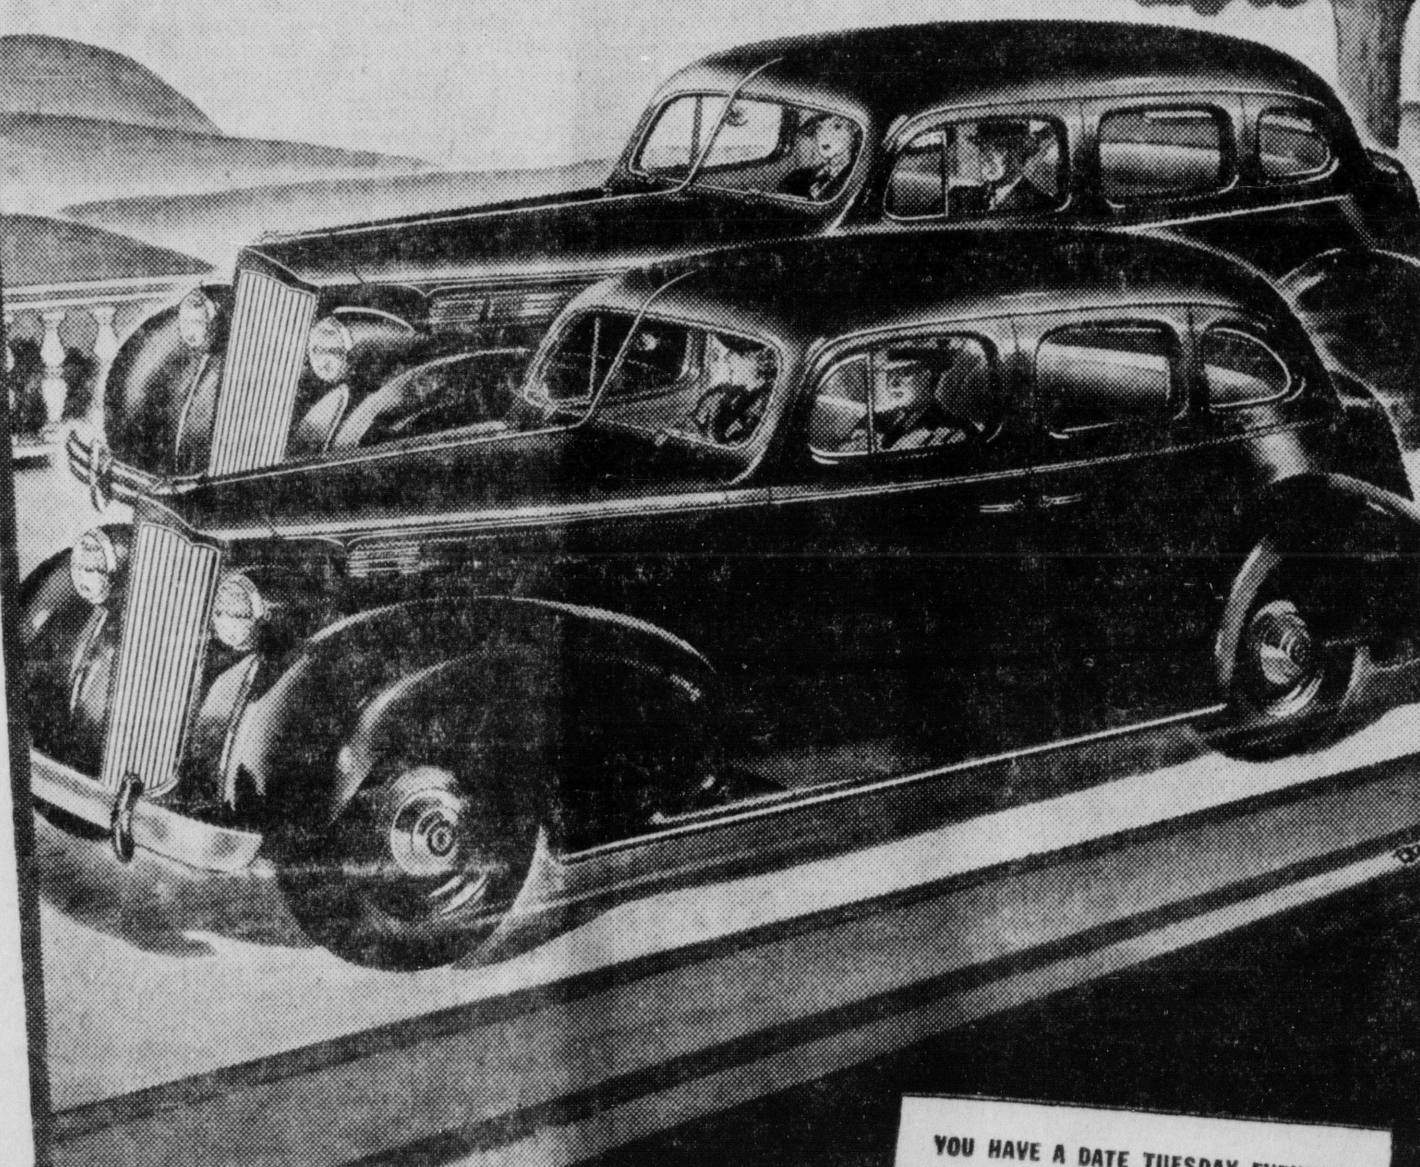

NEW QUIET BODY—As a result of years of research in cooperation with a great University, Packard brings you a really quiet all-steel body with an all-steel top.

MORE LUXURIOUS SIZE—Both the Packard Eight and Packard Six are seven full inches longer in wheelbase than last year. Bodies are far wider. Trunks challenge those of any cars for roominess.

SERVICE NEEDS CUT—The need for service is still further reduced. Example: Chassis lubrication is now needed only twice a year!

ENDURING BEAUTY—The famous Packard lines are now more beautifully streamlined than ever. But they still proclaim your car a Packard, still guard it from early style obsolescence. Only Packard gives you both long mechanical life and long style life!

EASY AVAILABILITY—YOU can afford one! EASY AVAILABILITY—YOU can afford one! See your Packard dealer. He will give you proof that, if you can afford to buy and operate any new car, you can afford to buy and operate a Packard!

YOU HAVE A DATE TUESDAY EVENINGS
Each Tuesday evening, at 9:30 P. M., over the N. B. C. Red Network, Packard brings you one of the most entertaining full-hour shows on the air! Lanny Ross, Charles George head a brilliant cast that entertains each week one of the topmost stars of radio, stage or screen!
